Forecast For Northern Ireland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Saturday 04 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Brisk winds pushing showers in from the north.

Today:
Cloudy at first with rain and hill snow for the north, some heavy. Brightening up with sunny intervals and occasional showers. Strong northwest winds, with coastal gales, gradually easing. Feeling very cold. Maximum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Tonight:
Clear spells but a few showers continuing through the evening. Likely to become dry and clear later in the night with a frost developing. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Sunday:
A lot of bright and sunny weather with light winds too. Cloud spreading east during the evening with some rain and hill snow later. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
A very unsettled outlook, wet and windy on Monday. A brief interlude Tuesday morning before very strong south or southeast winds later and on Wednesday with outbreaks of rain too.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.